Stepped-up assault on mosquitoes set

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - The city commissioners Monday, June 14, decided to increase the frequency of aerial mosquito spraying due to the large infestation caused by the recent wet weather.

Howard Barker, president of Ag-Air, Inc., the firm which does the aerial spraying for the city, told the commission that in the past, the city hasn't budgeted enough money to undertake an effective spraying program.

He said last year, about $30,000 was budgeted by the city for mosquito control.

Barker outlined three alternatives and their cost. He said that using the present dilution of diesel fuel and Dibrom, he could make 36 sprayings for $49,698.

Using straight Dibrom at $35 per gallon, he would make the same number of sprayings for $61,398.

Barker recommended the city budget for a solution about half-way between the dilution he uses now and the undiluted Dibrom. That would cost about $55,500 he said.

Weather conditions affect the dilution too much, he said, and may not get the job done. The recommended solution, two times as strong as the one used around the city, would be a surprise addition in the way to keep mosquitoes under control, according to Barker who added that spraying every three days seems to keep the population at a level of tolerance to the community.

"Remember, all we kill are the mosquitoes we hit," said City Manager Rolf Wagner.

The city administration is determined that the solution is adequate frequently.

The city commissioners said they have received complaints from local residents concerning the spraying. "I'm getting it that's one area of services the people aren't willing to take a cut in," said Altman. "My constituents want mosquito control. I'd like to encourage much more frequent application."

Altman said the commission will have to make budget shifts to pay for the increased spraying. Currently, the city has budgeted enough money to fund spraying every 12 days until the end of the fiscal year. The commissioners have asked Barker to spray every three days instead.

"Our position is that we want the mosquitoes knocked out," said Altman.

Wagner said he and the administration are looking at ways to redirect some funds, but that it'll be rough because the budget is tight.

The mosquito population has increased in recent weeks due to wet weather. The wetter the weather, the more favorable the conditions for mosquitos, according to Barker.

"Personally, if I were a mosquito, I couldn't pick a better place to live," said Altman.

To date, the city had been monitoring the mosquito population and spraying in areas of high concentration, supplementing the flight spraying from the ground with the city operated truck, said Wagner.

CONSULTING ENGINEER Robert A. Elefritz with Briley, Wild and Associates discusses the water treatment scale model operation to visitors at the Water Works Department. The operation gives a sample of the ozone treated water process. The new system is expected to be in operation in the city within the next two years.

By ALMA HENRY

BELLE GLADE-City Commissioners, invited citizens, and members of the press were given the opportunity June 9 to participate in a water taste test.

The group was given a tour Wednesday morning of the water treatment scale model operation being conducted by consulting engineers and planners Briley, Wild and Associates at the water works department located at 1016 West Canal Street. City Manager Rolf Wagner said the scale model utilizes an ozone process and the "water tastes good, colorless and has no smell."

The hydraulic scale model was constructed by Briley, Wild and Associates so the firm could conduct necessary tests towards designing the most cost efficient operation.

Consulting Engineer Robert A. Elefritz said the new operation meets all the standards set by the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation and most of the tests required for the project have been completed.

Elefritz said once the Commission accepts bids on the project is should take approximately 18 months for the new system to be in operation.

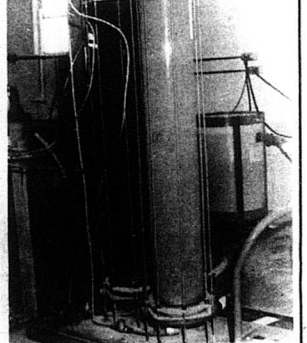

Wagner said the improvement project will cost in the neighborhood of $4 million.

David W. Porter, plant operation chief said, "In utilizing the new ozone process, the level of trihalomethanes in the water is reduced."

The scale model provides visitors to the water treatment plant a direct parallel visible view of the water currently being treated at the plant and the water treated with the ozone process.

The operation also produces a sample of the water Belle Glade residents can expect to have in their homes within the next two years.

Mayor Thomas Altman, Commissioner William Gear along with Mike Saunders, administrative assistant to County Commissioner Bill Bailey, were among those getting a taste of Belle Glade's future "sparkling, colorless spring water."

ON DISPLAY at the Belle Glade Water Works Department are two parallel tubes showing the present water being treated at the plant and water treated with the ozone process.

Pahokee clean-up plans finalized at meeting

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE - A city-wide clean-up effort in Pahokee is scheduled to start July 10 at 8 p.m. at City Hall. The city council and a committee from the Lion's Club met Tuesday, June 15 to cement their plans for the clean-up.

Rob Tiller, one of the Lion's Club's representatives, recommended that the initial efforts be made on a major street to spark the interest and gain the support of the rest of the community.

State may lease Belle Glade jail

BELLE GLADE - The state Department of Corrections is interested in leasing the municipal jail facilities in Belle Glade when and if the county pulls out of the structure, according to Police Chief D. Bill Mathis.

Mathis told the Belle Glade City Commission Monday, June 14, that Robert Turner, superintendent at Glades Correctional Institute, had toured the facility and recommended the state pursue leasing the state prison from the city as a temporary holding facility for prisoners being transferred to state institutions.

The jail, located beside the police facility and behind the old city hall on SW Avenue A, is currently utilized by the county Sheriff's Department as a county jail.

The city had leased the building to the county in 1977 for $1 per year plus other considerations, according to Mathis. The other considerations included maintenance of the building.

The county is currently constructing a jail facility behind the Glades county office building north of Belle Glade.

Mathis said he has been verbally informed that the county will probably cancel it's lease on the municipal structure near the end of September.

At his recommendation, the city commissioners authorized city attorney John Baker to draw up a lease agreement and check into the legalities of the city reserving space for a holding facility.

• Decided not to pass a resolution asking the county in 1977 for $1 per year plus other considerations, according to Mathis. The other considerations included maintenance of the building.

The city had previously asked DOT to eliminate right turns by large trucks at that location because of the space required.

Mathis had relayed the request to DOT and was informed that it would eliminate all right turns at the intersection. The department asked for a city resolution, however, to give opponents a chance to voice their disapproval.

After discussion on the motion recommended more commissioners were opposed to eliminating all right turns, the motion and second were withdrawn.

Alcohol zone change delayed

SOUTH BAY-Patrons of the Days Inn must hold their thirst for a glass of wine along with their dinner a little while longer.

The City Commission had to delay the second reading of ordinance number 7-82 which will allow the sale of alcoholic beverages at the local hotel and restaurant.

The city presently has an ordinance on the book that stipulates no alcoholic beverages can be sold or consumed in certain zones within the city.

The proposed ordinance stipulates that no alcoholic beverages be sold or consumed within 300 feet of a church, school or playground.

City Attorney James Gann told the Commission Tuesday night he has found that the city also has a zoning code on the same subject. The zoning code restricts the sale or consumption of alcoholic beverages within 1,000 feet, or a school, church, or playground.

Gann said the ordinance and the zoning code conflicts and the Commission needs to correct the matter before the new ordinance is passed.

In other business before the Commission:

- Several pay resolutions were passed.
- The Commissioners adjourned the meeting to attend the ribbon cutting ceremony of the Community Action Council cannery.

Man hospitalized after fight at GCI

BELLE GLADE — The Gerry Cooney-Larry Holmes fight may have left one man in the hospital over the weekend, according to a Sheriff's Office Detective.

According to Detective Cliff Simonds, Willie Rembert, 32, who is serving a 20 year sentence at Glades Correctional Institute for robbery, was struck in the head and left arm with a cane fight as result of an argument Sunday, June 13, at about 12:30 a.m.

Willie McCants, 35, who is serving five years and 25 years concurrent for armed robbery, was arrested and charged in the assault. Simonds said McCants told him the argument was as a result of a bet between the two over the Cooney-Holmes fight Friday night in Las Vegas, Nevada. Rembert has told him he doesn't know why he was assaulted, according to Simonds, who added that McCants bond in the incident was set at $10,000. Rembert was transported after the attack to Glades General Hospital's emergency room by the Glades Ambulance Service where he underwent treatment for an open fracture to the skull. He was later transported to Bethesda Memorial Hospital in West Palm Beach for treatment by a neurosurgeon. He was released to GCI Tuesday, June 15 and transferred to Butler medical facility, according to Simonds.

"I'd have to vote against eliminating all right turns," said Mayor Thomas L. Altman, who asked Mathis to continue his efforts to get DOT to eliminate only right turns by large trucks. • Decided to pursue having the county install a traffic signal at the intersection of Avenue L and SR 715. A traffic study conducted by the county at the city's request determined that a signal was needed, according to Mathis.

The county informed Mathis that it was willing to install the signal, but the city would have assume the cost of the "signalization."

The commissioners decided to ask that the signal be installed at county cost.

• Appointed Kenneth Lutz, civil air patrol commander, to the Airport Committee. Lutz fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Bert Roemer.

• Decided to look into three possible means of installing sidewalks, curbing and gutters on SE Third Street and SE Fourth Street.

Wayne Carter, representing the Elk's Club, requested 300 feet of curb and sidewalks on the east side of SE Third and the west side of Fourth around the Elk's Club. City Manager Ralph Wagner estimated the project would cost close to $7,000 and said only $1,505.58 remained in the budget for sidewalk construction.

The commission authorized the administration to explore other means of funding the project, including doing the job in-house instead of by contract.

Two other means suggested were budgeting the project next year and using Community Development funds.

• Voted to establish July 2 and November 25 as the city's two floating holidays this year. This gives the city employees' two four-day weekends, according to City Finance Director Frank Anderson.

City commissioners attending the meeting were Altman, George Goforth, Claude Tindall, William Greer and Charles Goodlett.

When presented with the award Compton said the Belle Glade Lions Club has bestowed upon him two great honors; being named Lion of the Year and elected president of the Club in 1981.

Compton said Billy Schoenfeld kept the name of the "Lion of the Year" a secret.

"In previous years, the president always was told who would receive the award. This year I felt I was not being treated right," said Compton.

Compton presented the Incoming President's Award to James Leeman.

Colford also installed the 1982-83 officers. Officers installed were

James Leeman, president; Brett McCormick, first vice-president; Dallas Nelms, second vice-president; Mike Burkett, third vice-president; Paul Kornya, secretary; Phil Dulaney, treasurer; Jessie Womack, tail twister; Steve French, lion tamer; Perry Ridgdon and Mike Miller, two year directors and Bill Gerlack and Frank Westwood, one year directors. Masako Nagasawa, of Japan and a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carpenter, thanked the Lions Club and the Carpenters for sponsoring her as an exchange student five years ago. Miss Nagasawa is presently a student at Palm Beach Junior College. She said last year she met the Carpenters in Tokyo and told them of her desire to return to America to master the English language and to attend college. Mr. Carpenter said he extended an invitation to Miss Nagasawa to return to America as their house guest. Miss Nagasawa said thanks to the kindness Lions and the Carpenters she has had "wonderful experiences in America."

She said her father is a member of the Lions Club in Tokyo and assisted her with the student exchange program.

Eberle promoted to sergeant

BELLE GLADE — Belle Glade Police Department Detective James R. Eberle was promoted effective Tuesday, June 15, to the rank of sergeant and transferred to the road patrol. According to Lieutenant Louis Lowery, Eberle, 44, has been in the detective bureau for almost ten years and has been with the department almost 12 years. Prior to moving to the detective bureau, he was assigned to the communications and road patrol departments.

According to

Lowery, detectives are often promoted out of the detective bureau in the city department because they have broad experience in all aspects of the operations of the department.

Reunion planned for weekend

BELLE GLADE — About 125 couples representing the Belle Glade High School classes of 1961, 1962 and 1963 are expected to converge upon Belle Glade this weekend for a reunion, according to Steve Weeks, one of the organizers of the reunion.

According to Weeks, the group will be at the Elk's Club starting at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 19.

The next afternoon, they will be holding a family picnic at Airport Park starting at 1 p.m.

Tentative plans call for a tennis and golf tournament Saturday. Faculty and administration members from the school have been invited and Pellom Morris, the principal of the school when the classes attended, has indicated he will attend the reunion.

Those responsible for organizing the reunion were: Weeks and his wife Mary Weeks, Pat McKee, Gene Challancin, James Martin, Sandra Delaney, Sandy Walker, Jackie Pitts, George Burch, Frank Davis and Bobby Carter.

Often times when one puts in new plants they may not grow properly due to not having been installed correctly. Many times, particularly in landscaping, thousands of dollars are spent in the selection and purchase of top-quality plants and then little consideration is given to proper installation.

If you are inexperienced at planting trees, shrubs and other things, by all means ask for advice at places where you purchase plants, or better yet, let a qualified landscape nurseryman put these in for you.

When hundreds or thousands of dollars worth of plant material is involved it pays to plant things right so that there will not be any need for plants to grow poorly or even die.

Most professional landscape installers guarantee their work for a certain number of days and if it is an especially expensive plant or one that would be hard to replace it would pay to let someone put it in that would guarantee it. If you are putting in things yourself and feel that you have enough experience in installing plants properly, keep in mind that the soil is amended with organic material at the time the plant is installed if possible. Most people live in areas that have very poor soils and lack organic matter and essentially are almost all sand.

The addition of organic amendments such as peat moss, manure, composted soil and, of course, topsoil, will greatly increase the chances of your plant's success. Many people question the use of soil amendments saying that the roots will not be encouraged to grow out into the surrounding poorer soil; however, experience has shown that the use of these materials is in fact beneficial.

To help plants get off to a better start, as a general rule, dig the planting hole twice as wide and twice as deep as the root ball of the plant going in. When the plants are put into the holes a water source should be close by so that the soil can be kept moist around the root ball and all air pockets can be removed.

After the planting portion is completed, a saucer should be left around the plant so that it can be watered regularly for the next several weeks.

MAYOR THOMAS ALTMAN and City Manager Rolfe Wagner sample the new water at the water department. In operation on June 6 was a scale model operation. The operation gave a sample of the present water and water treated by the ozone process.

Clean-up

The city, looking for assistance in their clean-up drive, decided not to seek CETA workers, but to look into the possibility of obtaining help from Glades Correctional Institute and the Urban League. The operators of the summer recreation facility at Pahokee High School also agreed to supply help in exchange for funding of their program.

According to City Clerk Bety J. McCoy, CETA workers are not worth the effort it takes to obtain them.

"They're hard to get and they're hard to keep and manage," she said, adding that it is also difficult to have one dismissed or fired.

"It takes all of your regular help's time to watch all the (CETA) people, all the kids to get them to work," said Councilman William E. McKinstry.

Mayor Duncan Padgett said that in the past, the CETA program had been dominated by "undesirable" people who couldn't get jobs elsewhere.

Clarence Dixon, one of two coaches in a summer recreation program, offered the services of the youths he'd be working with in exchange for city funding of his project.

"If you funded the summer recreation program, I don't think I know we could get the job done," said Dixon, claiming he has the respect of the students and their parents. "If I'm gonna run it, they're gonna be students, not grown-ups. And they're gonna do what kids are supposed to do."

The council voted to fund the program up to $2,500. About $1,920 of that will go to salaries and the rest will be used for equipment.

Another problem facing the clean-up efforts was trash disposal.

According to Padgett, the city is paying $67 per load to dump trash at the city dump.

McKinstry said that private citizens may dump trash for free at the dump, but the dump is closed on Saturday, the scheduled kick-off day for the clean-up.

Padgett said he will talk with the director of the Palm Beach County Solid Waste Authority, Timothy Hunt, Jr., and attempt to get the dump opened free of charge for that day to Pahokee.

The authority is operating the landfill, which is in the closing stages.

The city collects trash, but up until last week, only had one man for the job, according to Public Works Director Richard Mount.

Since then, the department has hired a second man.

Councilwoman Ada Bush and Building Inspector Phelix Slonaker agreed that progress has been made in the past week since the second person has been hired for trash collection.

In another phase of the clean-up, Slonaker supplied the city with a list of 15 property owners he will serve with code violation notices.

All of the property owners had been contacted "numerous" times over violations of ordinances concerning hazardous or unhealthy materials on their property, said Slonaker.

The Lion's Club members said they will be working in the meantime for the support of other civic, social and fraternal organizations.

Padgett warned that the groups attempting the clean-up should be cautious because of possible lawsuits if items are removed from private property without the owner's permission.

"You'd better be very cautious about going off of city property to clean-up anything," he said.

If it is a large enough plant it pays to provide a stake to anchor it securely until the root system can become well established. On large trees heavy guy wires may be necessary to stake them securely for a period of three to six months to prevent their toppling over during high winds.

After the plant has been in the ground about four to six weeks it is safe to apply fertilizer. Some people put fertilizer in the hole at the time the tree or bush is planted; however, this is not recommended since in many cases burning of the root system could occur. As a general rule wait until you see signs of new growth on the recently planted tree or shrub before applying chemical fertilizers.

Failure to pay income taxes illegal

Editor

Some so-called tax patriots or tax protesters are making speeches and offering seminars throughout Florida at which serious misrepresentations about federal income tax laws are counseling local taxpayers not to pay income taxes by claiming that the federal income tax laws are unconstitutional.

All citizens certainly have the right to express criticism of the tax system and government policies related to it, as well as to join groups which express such criticisms. None of the steps taken by the Internal Revenue Service are directed at suppressing this dissent. However, once a person moves from expressing dissatisfaction to actually employing schemes with the intention of evading taxes, the IRS has an obligation to become involved to preserve the tax system and ensure Floridians who voluntarily comply with federal tax laws that these laws are being enforced.

Taxpayers from around the state are asking what the government is doing about the illegal tax protesters who are making headlines in local newspapers and appearing on radio and TV talk shows. While disclosure laws prevent the IRS from discussing an individual taxpayer's tax situation, there are nevertheless many points to be considered by anyone interested in the legal tax protest movement. Currently, the IRS is auditing about 200 protest returns filed by Floridians and 13 individuals are under criminal investigation. During April 1982, protestors from Cedar Key and Avon Park, Florida, were convicted in U.S. District Court on charges of failing to file federal income tax returns. The audits and investigations are aimed at persons who try to avoid paying taxes by such illegal schemes as mail-order ministries, family estate trusts, fraudulent claims of exemption from income tax withholding and claims that the federal income tax is unconstitutional. Included in these efforts are cases involving taxpayers who are claiming that wages are not considered taxable income. Recently in a U.S. Tax Court case involving a Tampa taxpayer (Charles W. Herzog v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue), the court ruled that the compensation Herzog received for his work in plumbing, fitting and air conditioning was indeed taxable and that he would be liable for the deficiencies in income tax determined by the government. Illegal protesters who encourage non-compliance with tax laws often give the impression that there are no consequences. They don't pay taxes, they

Medical Records Week declared

WHEREAS, a medical record is a complete, accurate and permanent documentation of medical findings and observations concerning a patient's health, illness or injury; and

WHEREAS, such data is used for accurate diagnosis and treatment of any future illness; and WHEREAS, medical records are used to evaluate health care, assist medical research, identify disease trends and provide information for insurance claims, as well as to aid in patient care; and

WHEREAS, medical records are important in that they are used to inform public health officials and the community of health conditions and disease trends, thereby making it possible to formulate effective public health programs;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Bob Graham, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Florida, do hereby proclaim June 13, 1982 as MEDICAL RECORD WEEK in Florida, in recognition of the valuable services provided by those in charge of the work connected with the all important medical records.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Florida to be affixed at Tallahassee, the Capitol, this 18th day of February in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighty-two.

THE BELLE GLADE HERALD

The chairman of the Southwestern Palm Beach County Hospital District said he saw no reason to believe a joint hospital could be accredited easier, or provide better care, than two hospitals here and in Pahokee.

Herman Close made those and other statements in answer to questions posed by The Belle Glade Herald during the controversy over whether the two hospitals in the western part of the county should be closed in favor of a single hospital between the two cities.

Close said he didn't think people who lived outside Belle Glade proper posed any problems for the hospital either and "only wishful thinking" could lead anyone to believe a joint hospital could be built with no increase in taxation.

Mrs. Ethel Bair, treasurer of Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association, was installed as treasurer of the Florida Gold Coast chapter of the Society of Savings and Loan Controllers.

County commissioners, city commissioners and representatives of the Civitan, Lion and Rotary Clubs scheduled a meeting with State Road Department officials to discuss the four-laning of U.S. 441 between Hillsboro Canal and Hooker Highway.

Glades area National Guardsmen were to be included in the release from active service of the 149th Quartermaster Company.

Major Emmett Roberts reported the company had established a good reputation at Ft. Lee, Va. for efficiency and the spirit of its members.

Glades area growers shipped 25,750 carloads of vegetables, worth $24.8 million, to set tonnage and dollar value records for farming in western Palm Beach County.

Vegetables from the Glades were eaten by persons in all 48 states, in every province of Canada, in Cuba and some Central and South American countries.

It cost an average of a dollar a package to ship 13 million packages of vegetables by rail and truck to points north.

Area farmers said they had already invested at least a dollar a package in labor on the vegetables before the doors closed on the cars leaving town. The Everglades Drainage District assessed its last tax of 75 cents per acre. The district was being taken over the following year by the South Florida Conservancy District.

Belle Glade was getting ready to begin a six-week summer recreation program as a joint project of the city recreation department and the Palm Beach County School Board.

40 YEARS AGO
THE BELLE GLADE HERALD

While a "food for freedom" inventory of farm production capacity is being planned by the State Defense Council, some large scale vegetable growers in the county were planning continued planting the following fall because of labor uncertainty.

County Agricultural Agent Marvin U. Mounts said some farmers planned to plant only half, and some only a third, of their normal acreage. Vegetable packers and pickers were in many cases, according to Mounts, joining the Army or taking higher-paying jobs in other areas.

Still others, he said, were working in the same jobs but were earning much more per hour.

Mounts said the federal government was paying attention to the farm labor problem but had accomplished little yet.

In a related story, the Belle Glade and Pahokee Defense Council's motto, "Work or Fight" was adopted in Detroit when strikers at the Federal Engineering Company were told just that by the head of the Army Air Corps' procurement there.

South Bay Junior High School graduated 16 students to senior high status but the graduates lost their main speaker when Belle Glade attorney H. Shaw Foster was inducted into the Army.

THE EVERGLADES NEWS
JUNE 17, 1952

Palm Beach County Health authorities were trying to establish whether the deaths of two area people, one from South Bay and the other from Pahokee, were the result of a typhoid-related disease.

A clinic was slated to be held at the Pahokee High School to check area residents to find whether the disease was isolated to the two cases or doctors should be concerned about the possibility of an epidemic.

The two deaths were in families which shared quarters for a time in South Bay, although the one family had returned to Pahokee before it lost a member. Neither person who died was identified in the story.

Health officials noted typhoid fever is a danger wherever no water treatment or sewage facilities were available.

Belle Glade and Pahokee were sites for projected new Post Office buildings, testimonials of continued growth.

C.E. Riedel said the Belle Glade Post Office would be ready for occupancy by July and Postmaster George Farnall said furniture and fixtures had been ordered and were expected shortly.

Quite a week

It's been quite a week, this past week, and it's not over yet.

For all intents and purposes, it started Friday when General Manager Grady Mesimer, Advertising Manager Kim Allen and I rode over to the West Palm Beach Hyatt for the Florida Press Association Better Newspaper Contest.

The Herald-Observer took a third-place award in agricultural writing, competing against the biggest weeklies in the state of Florida.

I think the Louisiana newspaper publishers who judged the Florida newspapers were just as fascinated by our account of Floyd Erickson's mango farm in Canal Point as we were in writing it.

Monday, it was back to putting out the next issue of the news. Everything went fine until about 5:30 p.m. when equipment started breaking down.

Our main typesetting machine went on the blink and we were unable to correct the problem. Although our main typesetter was obtained last year, it is a state-of-the-art piece of equipment. We believe we may be the only weekly in the state that has this particular collection of circuit boards, wires, and push buttons.

The only problem is that there are few people to turn to in times of trouble, except the manufacturer.

Fortunately, we were able to get a tech rep in here by Tuesday afternoon, just in time to stave off disaster.

From the time he walked in the front door until he diagnosed and replaced the circuit board which had gone bad no more than 40 minutes had elapsed.

But that's what tech reps are for. They have testers and knowledge that we lay people lack and they make us feel very good when they fix a perplexing problem.

I hope we can go through another experience like that again in the near future, but we learned a lot from it anyway.

It looks like a week that began great and sagged in the middle is going to turn out all right after all.

Either beneficiary or insured owns an insurance policy

QUESTION:

I have been paying the life insurance premium on an old policy we had on my ex-wife, with the intention of cancelling it next year after it has some cash value. In that way I could at least get back some of the money I had already invested in it before our divorce. But my friend says the policy is not really mine any longer and I'm wasting my money. What is the truth about policy ownership? Is it the beneficiary or the insured?

ANSWER:

Either. According to the Florida Department of Insurance, it depends on the way you filled out your initial application.

We contacted Asela McCall, an insurance claims examiner, for further information. She explained that ownership is usually designated at the time of application. Check your files and see if this is addressed on your original questionnaire. If not, McCall says the insured is owner, which would mean you are paying premiums on a policy you could neither cash-in nor collect in the event of her death.

Why? Because if your ex-wife is the owner, chances are she changed the beneficiary after her divorce. "If she is listed as the owner, she could do what she pleased with the policy," McCall said. And you would not even have to be notified.

If you find your ex-wife is actually listed as the policy owner, McCall suggests you contact her and try to work out an amicable agreement. Possibly when your ex finds out you've continued payment in hopes of some financial return, she would be willing to sign papers allowing you to cash in the policy. If an amicable settlement is not possible, stop wasting your money. You can't do anything with that policy without the owner's permission and signed consent.

New UHT milk requires no refrigeration until opened

A University of Florida food buying specialist says a new, nonspoil milk being marketed in Florida this summer could be a plus for the consumer.

Lizette Murphy of UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS) says UHT (ultra-high temperature) milk has been treated so it can be stored for up to three months without refrigeration. A special sterilization and packing process kills the spoilage bacteria, but the milk is otherwise the same as Grade A pasteurized milk. "The new milk has several advantages over conventional milk," she said. "It can be stored in quantity by institutions, and vending machines won't have to be constantly replenished. It could be very convenient for hikers, picknickers and people taking long trips by car."

Murphy says UHT milk is also likely to be practical for small families and for emergency situations like hurricanes.

Murphy says the new milk is whiter and slightly richer in taste than conventional milk, which may take some consumers time to get used to. But she says there's no significant change in the nutritional value of the milk.

Murphy says there's nothing really new about the UHT process: it's been used in Europe for some time. According to the manufacturer, Florida has been chosen for the first U.S. test marketing of the product, and it will be available through supermarkets in Miami, Ft. Lauderdale, Palm Beach, Sarasota, Ft. Myers, St. Petersburg, sophisticated marketing, you may think you've seen and heard of just about everything.

Well, maybe not. How about a product to help Fido on those long, hot days when the stress of modern dogdom gets him down? Something for a little "puppy-pick-me-up" maybe?

Look no more. According to an article in the Consumer's Union News Digest, a newly marketed canine cocktail has wowed the howlows during taste tests.

Tampa, Orlando and Jacksonville.

The milk will be marketed in half pint and quart containers. Skim and flavored varieties will be available.

Murphy says the milk can be used as an ingredient in cooking exactly the same way as regular milk, and, like regular milk, should be kept chilled after opening. It will be sold on the grocery shelves and not in the dairy case.

claim, and haven't for years. They tell of "millions" of others who do the same and maintain the IRS can't do anything about it.

During the past 5 years, 609 tax protesters have been convicted nationwide. These individuals received an average prison sentence of more than 6 months and were fined a total of nearly one million dollars. In imposing the sentences, judges are often very stern in rejecting the arguments presented by the protesters. For example, in a recent Michigan case, the judge said, "You want to receive the protection afforded by the government and not pay the cost thereof... You have chosen to assert the justification asserted by cranks and crackpots—those who would destroy the country so dependent upon voluntary compliance with the laws by resisting the tax. You, sir, must now take the consequences of such deliberate violations."

Some people who joined the movement became quite repentant at the time of their sentencing. Last year a Texas member of the United Tax Action Patriots told the judge, in part, "Well I got started into this by external pressure... after I realized what was going on... I didn't figure out how to get out... without a hassle... I do know I'm sorry I got into it... It'll never happen again... It was wrong."

In tax court, judges are throwing out illegal protest cases due to their frivolous nature and some are assessing a $500 penalty for bringing frivolous cases before the court. It should be noted that the government has never lost a case because the taxpayer alleged that income taxes are unconstitutional.

Some illegal protesters have been claiming exempt status or excessive allowances of Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, filed with their employers in an attempt to avoid the withholding of income tax from their wages. With their employers no longer properly withholding income tax, the protesters may then attempt to drop off the tax rolls by not filing income tax returns. New IRS regulations outline several steps that will curtail this scheme. Also, a person who files a false W-4 form can be assessed a $500 civil penalty and may be chosen to assert the justification asserted by cranks and crackpots—those who would destroy the country so dependent upon voluntary compliance with the laws by resisting the tax. You, sir, must now take the consequences of such deliberate violations."

Medical Records Week June 13-19

PAHOKEE- Posters and bulletin boards are on display this week at Everglades Memorial Hospital and the ladies in Medical Records are all sporting ribbons and their desks are bedecked with flowers.

The reason behind all of this is the fact that this is National Medical Record Week, according to a proclamation signed by Governor Bob Graham, and the employees at the local Pahokee hospital are celebrating the second annual event June 13-19 in many ways.

According to Anne Bruni, a Registered Record Administrator and the Director of Medical Records at Everglades Memorial Hospital, the staff is planning various activities for the week.

"Some of the activities we have planned besides the posters and bulletin boards distributed throughout the hospital, are gifts of appreciation for each employee for dedicated service and an open house June 19 for doctors and other hospital employees."

In addition the staff is planning a "Dictator of the Week" contest for the doctors who dictate their medical reports, a free lunch for the employees and contests within the department. Mrs. Bruni said that some of the contests will be unscrambling terms found in the records, a questionnaire about medical record services, and a quiz called "Guess the Diagnosis".

"The Medical Records Department is a vital part of every medical institution," said Mrs. Bruni, "and recognition for achievements through the years needs to be shown."

She said that Medical Record Week is celebrated worldwide, and the Medical Record professionals aim is to increase public awareness of their existence, functions, and responsibilities to the health care field.

The Medical Record Association was formed in 1928 and according to Mrs. Bruni, the history of medical records runs parallel with the history of medicine. "Records are as necessary for the practice of medicine as medications are for effective treatment. The earliest records have been found as murals located on cave walls during the Old Stone Age," said Bruni. "These earliest records were primitive in form and were very different from the Medical Records as they are kept today."

The medical records job is to plan and develop a medical record system to meet standards of accreditation and regulatory agency requirements, assist the medical staff in evaluating the quality of patient care, collect and analyze patient care data and develop policies and procedures for medicolegal uses of records.

Everglades Memorial Hospital had 3076 admissions in the last eight months, according to Mrs. Bruni, and the average length of stay of the patients is 4.4 days.

The Pahokee hospital has had 753 newborns since the fiscal year beginning in October and has had close to 90 percent occupancy for the fiscal year.

THE EMPLOYEES AT Everglades Memorial Hospital are celebrating the Second Annual Medical Records Week June 13 through 19. Shown from front to back are

Buttermilk Pie

Our recipe this week was submitted by Robbie Hooks, a Medical Transcriber at Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee.

Robbie and her husband Rudy have lived in Belle Glade for almost a year. She is originally from Clewiston.

She enjoys sewing and says she loves animals. This recipe for buttermilk pie is "fattening," according to Robbie, but good.

one cup brown sugar
one cup white sugar
one stick margarine or butter nine tablespoon vanilla five eggs

Beat egg whites until stiff, mix remaining ingredients and fold into egg whites.

Pour into pie crust. Bake at 325 degrees approximately one hour or until toothpick comes out clean.

Pie Crust

three cups flour
one cup lard
one tablespoon vinegar
one egg beaten
one-third cup water

Cut lard into flour and add remaining ingredients. Yield: More than one pie. May be frozen for later use.

KEEPING THE FAITH

"Righteous are you, O Lord, and your laws are right. The statutes you have laid down are righteous; they are fully trustworthy."

Psalm 119 - 137, 138 NIV

Not living under authority is a great problem for the human race. Every human being needs to live under authority to live a meaningful, fruitful, and enjoyable life. Now not everybody recognizes that simple fact, but never the less, that is the way God made us.

We need an authority that we are answerable to. Without it we live in chaos. Everyone without exception must be answerable to some authority. This is one reason why God gave us His word - the Bible. The Bible is the highest written authority that man can have. It is "God's Handbook to Life."

First of all, it is the authority of what is right and wrong. It tells us this in two stages. First of all, there is the simple stage of stating very briefly laws of right living. Most of these are summed up in the Ten Commandments. If we only had those ten statements and lived in them the human race could get along. They begin by recognizing that the first commitment of our life is to God. But then they go on to give us the basic rules on how to live with each other. They tell us how to treat and respect each other. But God's word also tell us very simply we are to love not only God, but each other.

The second stage is a greater detailed account of how we are to carry out these rules. It is this stage we learn that God provided for us a way of having our lives changed. We learn that even though we have disregarded God's law for us we can be forgiven and restored through Jesus Christ.

When man refuses to live under authority, he is living in rebellion. He has set himself against law and order, against his fellow man, and against God. That person is seeking to do what he wants to do, even if it hurts someone else and it usually

Woman's Club honors Bregger

BELLE GLADE—A covered dish luncheon was held June 10 at 12:30 p.m. by the Belle Glade Woman's Club honoring Mrs. Larry Bregger.

The luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Larry Royal, with Mrs. Roy Litchfield serving as co-hostess.

Mrs. Bregger, after residing in the Glades for many years, will be moving soon to live in Northeast Maryland to live. She has a son and other relatives there.

The luncheon was attended by 16 club members who said their good-byes and wished her well. Two arrangements of roses, given by Mrs. Mills Byrom, were used to decorate the tables and were presented to Mrs. Bregger and the hostess, Mrs. Larry Royal. Mrs. Bregger was also presented a special gift by club members.

Okeelanta batters Carter for four homers in 10-6 victory

By JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE - The Okeelanta softball team apparently took the city seriously in its choice of names for the recreation facility north of Belle Glade.
Wednesday, June 9, the Okeelanta bats used field number one at Airport Park as the take-off point for four home runs which eventually defeated Carter Chevrolet, 10-6.
Both sides advanced runners to the corners in the first inning. Okeelanta on an error and a single and Carter on a walk and a single, but neither side was able to capitalize.
In the second inning, things fell apart for Carter when pitcher Curt Barton allowed Okeelanta to send the whole line-up to the plate and gather seven runs on six hits.
Three consecutive singles loaded the bases. Don Holloway led off with a single to right center. Mike Burkett followed with a single down the third base line into left and Herbie Giese knocked a ball into right center to load the bases. Catcher Sam Howe followed with a sacrifice fly to left fielder Earl Wingate to score Holloway and advance the runners.

Okeelanta pitcher Donnie Hilyer stepped to the plate and tapped a fly into center. A bobbled ball permitted two runs to score and Hilyer to reach first safely.
Jackie McClean started the air attack with one out and Hilyer on base by sending a Barton pitch over the fence in left-center.
Doug Rolserson singled to left to bring Wess Caddell to bat. Caddell, who flew out to right in the first, sent another ball that way - over the fence.

Carter held Okeelanta scoreless in the third despite a bases loaded threat, but dug their hole a little deeper in the fourth when they gave up two runs on solo homers by Rolserson and Oxford.
Hilyer and the Okeelanta defense held Carter scoreless through five innings on six hits.
In the sixth, Carter tried to turn things around when twelve batters went to the plate to pick up six runs on nine hits.
Barton started the rally with a lead-off single to center, but it looked like Okeelanta had things in control when Barton became the victim of a fielder's choice.
Alan Sullivan followed with a double to advance Jorge Echave to third.
Mike Poza stepped to the plate with one out and two runners in scoring position. He dropped a single into left and Echave scored Carter's first run of the game.
Peddie Rodriguez, who relieved Barton on the mound in the fourth, helped his cause with an RBI single into right.

William Tommie batted in a run and Rigo Ruiz's double to right-center brought in two.
Bill Anderson advanced Ruiz to third with a single and Dennis Milliron brought him home with a sacrifice to left center.
Wingate also singled and Barton, batting for the second time that inning, picked up his second single that inning. Echave ended the inning with a fly-out to left, but Carter had closed a 9-0 lead to 9-6 and had one at bat left.
Okeelanta added an insurance run in the seventh, Cadell leading off with a single and Mark Colbert scoring him on a long single to left center.
Carter went to bat in the bottom of the seventh four runs behind, 10-6. They quickly picked up two outs on a grounder to the shortstop and a fly to left. Rodriguez kept his team alive with a two out single, but the next batter popped the ball up in the infield to end the game.

Carter breaks 3-3 tie with 7th inning rally

By JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE - Alan Sullivan's seventh inning double drove in the tie breaking run to clinch a 4-3 victory for Carter Chevrolet over Mace Sod Wednesday, June 10.
Carter Pitcher Curt Barton glided through the first two innings, allowing one hit in each inning.
In the third, he gave up one run on two hits, though.
Mace Sod's Dale Morris led off the inning with a single to left. Brandon Markham lined out to short to bring Roy Nelson to the plate with one down and a man on first.
Nelson's single to right center advanced Morris to third and a sacrifice fly to shallow center off the bat of Steve Schneider scored him to give Mace a 1-0 lead.
Carter came roaring back in their half of the inning. Barton led off with a walk and advanced to second when Jorge Echave knocked the ball into left for a base hit.
Sullivan's right center single loaded the bases. Mike Poza's grounder to the shortstop failed to score a runner when Morris successfully teamed up with catcher Sonny Stien to cut Barton at the plate.
The bases were still loaded though when Peddie Rodriguez stepped in with one out.
He knocked a double into left center to score all three runners.
Mace Sod added a run in the fourth when Craig Kleib's double to left center scored Jim Herring from first base.
Maced tied the game in the fifth with a double from Dale Morris and an RBI single from Roy Nelson.
Carter's Barton retired the side in the sixth and gave up a long single to deep center field to Sonny Stein in the seventh, but the score was still tied at three going into the bottom of the seventh.
Earl Wingate reached first on a shortstop's error in the seventh, but was tagged out when he tried to score from first on a single to right center by Barton.

With one away and a runner on first, Sullivan connected with a Steve Richey pitch for a double which bounced off the right field fence and drove home the winning run in the form of Barton.
A total of 24 games were played last week to make up for rain outs.
Glades Sugar, at the top of the A division since the beginning of the season, continued their reign at the top with two victories. The All Stars fell 7-3 and Okeelanta 6-2.
Mace Sod advanced to second place with an 8-7 extra inning victory over Bobby Conipe, a 6-2 victory over Okeelanta and a 13-4 trouncing of Glades General.
The All Stars beat Glades General 5-4. Glades General defeated Bobby Conipe 6-1 and Okeelanta 8-6.
Carter Chevrolet beat Glades General 6-2 and lost to Okeelanta 10-6.
Bobby Conipe, which has a lock on last place in the A division with no victories, was handled easily by Okeelanta, 14-0.
Everglades Farm Equipment beat Ag Service 11-8 and Duda defeated Everglades Farm 3-1.
Everglades Farm beat the Seminole Supply Oldtimers 16-0 on a two hitter and beat Theo's 4-1 and Quaker Oats 11-7.
Quaker Oats downed the Oldtimers 2-0 and lost to Theo's 7-6.
Duda defeated Seminole Supply 10-3, Ag Service 4-2 and Theo's 10-4.
Theo's defeated Ag Service 15-3.
In one other game, Theo's and Seminole Supply squared off, with Theo's taking the lead after seven. The decision in that game has been protested by Seminole Supply and the result has not been made official, according to Mike Underwood, recreation coordinator for the city.

Players of the week

2nd basemen wield bats to earn weekly honors

BELLE GLADE - Two second basemen wielded their bats to lead their teams and earn the players of the week honors.
Carter Chevrolet's Alan Sullivan collected six hits in 11 at bats and batted in a total of five runs to help his team to two victories in three games.
Against Glades General, Sullivan singled twice in three trips to the batters' box and scored one run.
He collected three hits including a double in four at bats against Mace Sod pitching and batted in three runs, including the winning run in the seventh.
Okeelanta held Sullivan to one hit in four at bats, but that one hit, a double, knocked in two runs. Sullivan also scored once in that game.

In the B Division, Duda's Alan Cumpton collected nine hits in 13 at bats to help his team to a berth at the top of the division.
He picked up a double and two singles in three at bats versus the Seminole Supply Oldtimers and batted in two runs. He also reached base on a walk in that game.
He batted in two runs with a triple against Ag Service, which held him to one hit in two trips to the plate.
Cumpton collected two singles in four at bats against Theo's and three hits, including a double, and an RBI against Everglades Farm Equipment.

Trendline shows increased economic activity in Florida

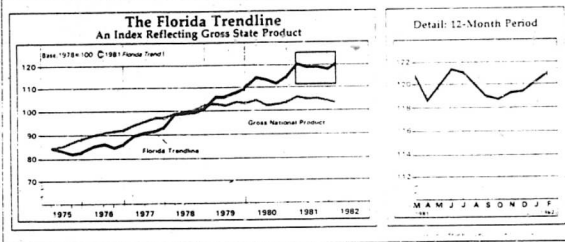

The Florida Trendline of economic indicators rose from 119.5 in January to 120.9 in February, a gain that can be attributed to increased activities in the finance, insurance, real estate and service sectors, according to the monthly Economic Profile report in Florida Trend's June issue.

The Trendline detected other hopeful economic signs in the construction industry. Though the construction component of the index was down 12 percent in February 1982 from the same month in 1981, in March of this year total construction expenditures were up 16 percent over March 1981. Even more significant, the number of units under construction rose from 8,227 in February to 18,186 in March.

There were two other economic highlights in February. The number of passengers using Florida's five major airports increased for the fifth month in a row, and commercial and industrial power usage was up 2.1 percent over February 1981.

Florida Trend also sees a bright spot in the dismal official employment figures, which the magazine considers "misleading." The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in Florida was 8.7 percent in April. At the same time, the number of employed workers in our state rose to 4.8 million in March, up 16.3 percent over March a year ago. The discrepancy lies in the large number of new residents moving to Florida without jobs, according to Florida Trend.

Commission sets summer camp essay contest

Ten vacancies at the Everglades Youth Camp have been set aside this year to be filled through an essay contest for children ages 8-14.

This marks the third year 10 campers are being sent to the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's facility by the African Safari Club Conservation Fund in Fort Lauderdale.

The camp is located in the J.W. Corbett Wildlife Management Area west of West Palm Beach and the cost of a week's stay is $75.

While in camp, children are exposed to the concepts of conservation, swim, fish, hike and learn the fundamentals of firearms safety along with much more.

The essay contest entries will be due no later than Thursday, July 1, and should consist of 250 words or less on the topic "What Have Sportsmen Done For Conservation". Entries should be mailed to Camp Director, 551 N. Military Trail, West Palm Beach, Fla. 33406.

Entries will be judged by a high school teacher on the basis of originality, proper use of the English language and content. The campers who win will attend the camp the week of August 1.

The camp is rapidly filling but there are still openings for a limited number of children. In all, 800 campers will attend this summer's session. There are also openings at the second commission camp near Ocala.

For more information, call 1-800-432-2046 or (305) 683-0748.

Missouri seeks disease protection

CATTLE
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 28, 1982—Missouri has become the first state taking steps to "protect" itself from the cattle disease brucellosis by restricting movement of cattle from the five high-incidence states of Florida, Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

Florida officials received word this week that Missouri officials plan to adopt rules more prohibitive than those suggested by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture for interstate shipment.

Under the Missouri proposals, all cattle—including steers—moving into Missouri from one of the five states will require a permit from the Missouri Dept. of Agriculture.

Gas prices surging again

TAMPA—Florida gasoline prices increased by nine-tenths of a cent per gallon in the last month, reversing the price decline trend that began last summer.

The latest AAA Clubs of Florida Fuel Gauge Report shows the average price of all grades of full service gasoline increased to $1.32.5 per gallon since the April Fuel Gauge Report. The survey also noted that motorists could save 17 cents per gallon by using self service pumps. Port Charlotte reported the lowest price in the state with self service regular selling for $1.03.3. Highest price reported was full service premium in Gainesville, selling at $1.44.9.

AAA reports that 82 percent of Florida service stations plan to be open on the May 31 Memorial Day Holiday.

In Ft. Myers, May gasoline prices averaged $1.32.2 for regular, $1.36.9 for unleaded, and $1.39.9 for premium.

The saving on self service gasoline was especially significant on self service regular [20.6 cents per gallon] and unleaded regular [17.3 cents per gallon]. But the survey also noted that self service prices have increased by nearly a penny per gallon since April.

While the survey did report price increases, price levels are still below those of March, 1982, and far below the peak levels recorded in April, 1981.

U.S. shouldn't give away food to Soviets

By DOYLE CONNER

The Soviet Union has a long, hard row to hoe before it will be able to provide for the food needs of its people. This suggests that the United States has a long term advantage in dealing with the USSR on matters vital to world peace if we remain steadfast.

The report provided to the Washington Post by the Soviet Union recently that details the inefficiencies and failures of Soviet agriculture is proof that the state-run agriculture system can not measure up to the free enterprise farm economy of the U.S.

The report from the special study commission of the Politburo confirms what we have long believed about Soviet agriculture - that if it were not for the little bit of private enterprise which is allowed, the people of the USSR would have far less to eat.

The very fact that the Soviet Union made the report is indicative of the grave concern which the USSR attaches to its agricultural problem. In the past, the Soviets have even been unwilling to allow western observers to make estimates on site of their crops.

Not only has the Soviet Union increased imports of food and feed tenfold in the last decade, it has also experienced staggering losses of harvested crops due to negligence and lack of facilities for drying and storage of crops.

Given the rigidities in the Soviet system, it is unlikely that the USSR will make much basic change in the way it manages its agricultural production program. However, since the economy is under the thumb of the Communist Party it is quite likely that there will be a major shakeup in the top party management of agriculture - soon. The mere public release of the Politburo report is an indication that party leaders are about ready to act.

Changing managers with a losing team is not going to change the team or its effectiveness, however. And there is no indication that the USSR will revamp its state-managed system broadly enough to ameliorate consistent food shortages.

Therefore, the United States, with its huge productive advantage, should bargain with the Soviet Union from the position of strength in food capability. We can say to the Communist leaders, "We'll help feed your people if you will curb your foreign adventures and reduce your nuclear arms stockpiles."

But at the same time, the U.S. must use care that our food supplies are not put on the market at such bargain rates that farmers suffer economically; our farmers deserve better treatment than they received a decade ago when we allowed the Soviet Union to quietly buy our grain at rock-bottom prices. If we bankrupt our farmers by selling too low, we would be left with nothing to bargain with.

The new Politburo report should have a prominent role in our impending discussions of international affairs both with European leaders and with the Soviet Union in the months to come.

Health of S & L's called a social issue

INNISBROOK — Florida Comptroller Gerald Lewis has called on the executive and legislative branches of the federal government to acknowledge that the ailing savings and loan industry is a social issue, as well as an economic issue, since it involves a treasured American dream — home ownership.

Speaking before the 43rd Annual Conference of the National Association of State Savings and Loan Supervisors, Lewis told the group that Florida has taken strong legislative measures to aid state-chartered savings and loans.

The Comptrollers said he had proposed several innovative programs to aid state-chartered savings and loan associations in recent years. One is the provision which allows state-chartered associations to invest up to 10 percent of their assets in high-yield stocks, obligations or securities.

Lewis said the increase in number of Florida savings and loan associations could be attributed in part to the efforts of the Comptroller's Office to assist the industry.

"In December 1979, prior to the rewrite of the savings and loan code, there were 11 state-chartered institutions in Florida. By the end of this year 35 state-chartered institutions will be doing business. Twenty of those are brand new associations," said Lewis, noting that in the same period only four federal charters had been approved.

Marine theft crack-down announced

TALLAHASSEE — State Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter today announced an expanded statewide crackdown on marine theft and related insurance fraud by his Division of Insurance Fraud and officers of the Florida Marine Patrol.

A recent program initiated in the Tampa Bay area has resulted in six arrests and the seizure of 21 boats, believed to have been stolen or falsely reported as stolen by their owners.

"This cooperative effort has already produced results," Gunter said. "Our investigation indicates that in at least half the cases where a boat is fraudulently registered, the original owner of that boat is an accomplice in an insurance fraud scheme. We are in the process of expanding this very successful effort to other areas of the state."

According to Gunter, a loophole in the law makes a tough enforcement job even tougher for the Marine Patrol. That loophole allows persons to obtain registration for a boat they say was built by them without furnishing proof of that, they, in fact, built the boat.

"Without a doubt, people are abusing this law," Gunter said. "We have every reason to believe that a great many stolen boats or boats falsely reported as stolen by their owners are being registered in this way."

The most recent arrests in the Bay Area involve a Pinellas Park man who reported his boat stolen several months after another man had registered the boat in his name. The original owner received $30,000 from three insurance claims filed in connection with the theft of the boat and other items.

from quarantined herds and adult vaccinated cattle in five restricted states would not be allowed entry into Missouri under any circumstances.

"These are harsh rules," said Florida State Veterinarian Dr. C.L. Campbell. "But it does not come as a surprise. Many of the states with low or no incidence of the disease have indicated all along that they'll adopt rules more stringent than the USDA guidelines."

In addition to Missouri, 17 other states have notified Florida officials that they intend to adopt rules blocking shipment of all cattle from quarantined herds, and North Dakota officials have been outspoken in their desire to remain free of the disease.

"The only action a free state like North Dakota could take would be to build the import barrier higher in order to prevent reintroduction of the disease," said State Veterinarian Dr. Dean Flagg. "The North Dakota Livestock Sanitary Board is not about to allow our cattle to become reinfected."

In addition to Missouri and North Dakota, Florida officials have received letters indicating stricter rules on calf vaccinations from Alabama, Arizona, Colorado, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

One reason we have a break down in authority at all levels today is because the authority of Gods' Word has been denied. In every situation that has to be a supreme authority. Scripture is the supreme authority, therefore when that is denied, all other authority is denied.

Who is it that gives authority to government? It is God. Who gives authority to law? It is Gods' Word. Who is it that gives authority to parents? It is Gods' Word. When we have a break down of authority in these three areas - all other areas of authority are broken down. This nation was built on the authority of God and His Word. That is fact of history. All one had to do to understand that simple fact is to read the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States of America. There is an enemy to law and order and that is Satan. He does not care whether we believe in him or acknowledge him, but he works overtime to try to destroy peoples' belief in the Bible as Gods' Word. However, this is one authority that is always right

McDonalds celebrates opening

RONALD MCDONALD visits adult patients at Glades General Hospital.

Hundreds of hamburger lovers greeted Ronald McDonald and the Hamburglar at the Grand Opening Ceremony for the new McDonald's Restaurant, located at 833 South Main St. Saturday, June 12.

The ceremony began with the raising of the American flag by Boy Scout Troop 622 of Belle Glade.

The customary ribbon cutting ceremony featured a ribbon made of vegetables grown in the Glades.

Eddie Aston, the local franchise owner, said since the Glades is the winter vegetable capital of the world it is "fitting to have a ribbon made of vegetables grown in the area."

Participating in the ribbon cutting ceremony were Mayor Thomas Altman; Commissioner George Goforth; Commissioner

Charles Goodlet; Wayne Mikell, president of the Bank of Belle Glade; Geoffrey Wade, Branch Manager of First American Bank; and Larry Tension, field representative of McDonalds Corporate Headquarters in Ft.

Lauderdale. The festivities included a visit to Glades General Hospital by Ronald McDonald and a show by the two characters at McDonalds at 2 p.m.

Ashton, a veteran with McDonald chain, having started out 20 years ago as a crew person, said the people of the Glades have been very friendly.

He said the corporation has been looking into this area for the past four or five years.

The local fast food chain employs between 40 and 45 persons.

IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Father Joseph Santa-Bibiana, S.D.B., has been the pastor of St. Philip Benizi Catholic Church for almost two years.

Father Santa-Bibiana was born in Valencia, Spain and came to the United States in 1966. He was ordained a priest at Salamanca, Spain in 1966. He joined the Salesians of St. John Bosco. He has a master's degree in education.

He came here from St. Dominic Savio High School in Boston, where he served both as principal and financial administrator. For 10 years, he was at the Mary, Help of Christians School in Tampa.

Father Santa-Bibiana is a member of the Kiwanis Club of the Glades.

Local scouts visit national Girl Scout Center in Georgia

SAVANNAH, Ga.—Girl Scout troops 386, 230, 330 and 3 from Belle Glade visited the Juliette Gordon Low Girl Scout Center in Savannah on June 10. The four troops have been added to the roster of more than 5500 troops that have visited since the 1956 dedication of Girl Scouting's national memorial to its Founder. The girls and adults are show at the front steps of the Regency townhouse in which Juliette "Daisy" Low was born on Halloween in 1860. The house, which was purchased by Girl Scouts of the USA in 1953 and restored to reflect the period of Daisy's girlhood, was designated a National Historic Landmark by the U.S. Department of the Interior in 1965.

Girl Scouts groups from all parts of the USA make scheduled visits to the Center. After a slide orientation and a guided tour of the parlor floor, they explore the house further on their own, learning about activities that were part of girls' lives a hundred years ago, strolling in the 1870's garden, or sharing in Special Interest Sessions on topics such as Savannah ironwork, spinning or quilting.

The group left Belle Glade on Wednesday, June 9th, traveling by charter bus, also visited Savannah Science Museum and historical Savannah.

Daniel Walker, Dionne Tolbert, Katrena McCoy, Keysha Edwards, Nikkis Harrell, Edith Henderson, Sharanda Lester, Monica Laing, Tanika Redding, Debbie Martin, Angela Best, Michelle Spencer, Leatrice Kimble, Cheryl Upshur, Felecia McDonald, Twylar McDonald, Shawn Danson, Valeria Clark, Dynisha Jackson, Fleeta Hearst, Vergie Williams, and Tiffany West.

Others who accompanied the group were Mrs. Sarah Spencer and Mrs. Gloria Collier.

GIRL SCOUT TROOPS from Belle Glade visited the home of the Girl Scout founder in Savannah.

Pell announces for re-election

Susan R. Pell, Member of the Palm Beach County School Board since 1978 and current Vice Chairman, has announced her intent to seek re-election to a second 4-year term on the non-partisan, non-salaried board.

"During the past three and a half years I've served, I feel we've made major progress in several areas," Mrs. Pell said. "Among these areas I've worked for have been:

- Funding to relieve overcrowded conditions and double sessions in schools;
 - Implementation of stronger disciplinary policies;
 - Use of a team approach in working with school system employees and the people of Palm County to improve our educational programs.
- "Next to my family, I feel the role of a school board member requires full-time attention," Mrs. Pell stated. "The people of Palm Beach County have expected this and I feel I have done so over the years."

"In coming years, I hope to continue my efforts and plan to work toward a number of additional goals including getting the community more involved in our schools as volunteers and users of our facilities, and to reduce the duplication of effort where it exists with municipalities and other local agencies."

She resides in Lantana with her husband, Byron, and their three children, Wendy, Jodi, and Tammy who attend local public schools.

Mothers of Twins meet

WEST PALM BEACH—The West Palm Beach Mothers of Twins Clubs, a non-profit organization, meets the third Monday of each month. All mothers of multiple birth children are welcome to attend.

Meetings are held at Conniston Junior High School at 7:30 p.m. Mothers in the Glades who would like additional information on the club may call Mrs. Joanne Schwandts at 996-0482. Twins hotline is also available. For help with problems call 842-9796.

Reeves receives award

UNIVERSITY, MISS.—Ted Reeves of South Bay, recently received the Distinguished General Military Course Cade Award, the Air Force Superior Performance Award and the General Dynamics Award at the Chancellor's Review at The University of Mississippi. The awards were based on academic and military excellence.

Fletcher completes course

Pvt. Gwendolyn P. Fletcher, daughter of Minnie L. Johnson and Johnnie Folmar of 300 N.W. 11th St., Belle Glade, has completed a supply course at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the course, students received instruction in the maintenance of stock records and the procedures necessary to receive, store, issue and ship supplies and materials.

Fletcher is a 1981 graduate of Glades Central High School. Her husband, Pvt. Kenneth K. R. Fletcher, is the son of Eddie and Doris Fletcher of 565 S.W. 11th St., Belle Glade.

Goodwill offers bargains

If you haven't visited a Goodwill Thrift Store recently you're missing out on some fantastic summer bargains.

Goodwill Industries has opened boutiques in their store located at 415-25th St. and 425 Flamingo Drive, West Palm Beach. The boutiques feature designer clothing, new clothing and unusual items of special interest. Antique furniture will also be found in the boutiques. An example of what you may find at the Goodwill boutique is a Calvin Klein shirt for $6.50.

For these treasure hunts, Goodwill has reinstated bin clothing. These clothes have not been processed or hung but are put directly in bins. Each article sells for 25 cents. There's not telling what will be found in a bin. A recent shopper found a pair of Geoffrey Beene's Beene jeans and bought them for only a quarter.

Visit your local Goodwill Thrift Store at 241 S. Main St., Belle Glade and see what treasures you may find.

Use care when boating

Boating is fun if you prepare and use care...The National Safe Boating Council invites you to take a free course to improve your basic boating skills. Courses are given by the Power Squadron, Coast Guard Auxiliaries state agencies and the Red Cross. For information call your nearest Coast Guard station or send a postcard to Boating Safety, U.S. Coast Guard, Washington, D.C. 20590.

Did you know that the vapor from just a cup of gasoline packs the same wallop as fifteen sticks of dynamite? The National Safe Boating Council reminds boaters that gasoline vapors can explode if they come into contact with a spark or flame. So check fuel lines and tanks for leaks and pay particular attention when fueling. The Coast Guard says before departing on a boat trip, advise a responsible friend or relative of your plans and keep him informed of any changes in those plans. If you are over-due, a Coast Guard search can be started and they will know where to look for you.

Banquet-dance tickets on sale

BELLE GLADE—Tickets are now on sale for the Lake Shore Junior Senior High School Class of 1982 banquet and dance.

The affair will be held Saturday, June 19 from 7:30 p.m., until at the Lake Shore Civic Center.

road-when you don't have the right of way on the water. Post a channel buoy guide decal near the operator's seat. For a free "Use Common Sense Afloat" decal send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Decal, 401 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 2950, Chicago, IL 60611.

Class members will be selling tickets. Paul Peterson is the reunion chairperson and will give any additional information concerning the event. Mrs. Harma Miller, publicist, said there will be a limited amount of tickets available.

Walker's Boutique open for business

BELLE GLADE--Walker's Fashion Boutique officially opened for business Monday.

The business is located at 132 S.W. Ave. B, and is owned and operated by Alfonso and Loretta Walker of Belle Glade.

The new store will offer a complete line of men's and women's fashions for the smart dresser.

Mrs. Walker said she will be designing clothes and taking orders for custom drapes until the boutique's stock comes in September.

A native of Tallahassee, Mrs. Walker is a former recording artist, having recorded on a label out of Jackson, Miss. She said she gave up

Custom manufactured equipment now available

Equipment will be custom manufactured for area businesses and industries by Multifacutors, Inc., a new business now open in the building occupied for 52 years by Belle Glade Machine Works at 28 S.E. Ave. C.

Burton F. Barrows, vice president of the new company, described it as an integrated industrial services business that will fabricate machinery and equipment for such industries as sugar mills and refineries.

The types of equipment to be fabricated, Barrows said, includes conveyors, pressure vessels, heat exchangers, access platforms and walkways.

The company will also manufacture a complete line of ornamental grillwork, security gates and fences, Barrows said, as well as a wide assortment of custom ornamental iron and aluminum furniture.

MFI, he said, was established in May, 1980 to provide a complete range of industrial services, including engineering design, construction, fabrication, installation and startup.

Since its inception, the company has participated in major expansions at Gulf and Western's Okeelanta mill, Atlantic Sugar Association and Seminole Sugar Corporation.

"We feel that there is an excellent potential for economic growth for a firm with the capabilities in the Glades area," said MFI President Pul Arsenault, "and in establishing this facility, we can serve our clients better and, with them, participate in the development of the area."

Corporate headquarters have been located in Palm Beach Gardens.

MFI is a state certified general contractor, Barrows said, and all equipment is manufactured to code with ASME or AWS certification, as required.

Arsenault said the local facility should be in full operation in about 90 days.

Frank Teets recognized

Frank Teets of South Bay Growers was recently recognized by Gamma Sigma Delta of the Honor Society of Agriculture.

Teets, president of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, received the award for Merit for Distinguished Service to Agriculture.

During the presentation, Dr. Charles Covey, extension coordinator, IFAS, commented on the accomplishments of the recipients, recognizing Frank Teets for his leadership in the area of progressive agricultural methods and his generous contributions of time and effort to his fellow man in the areas of employee relations, community endeavors and industry contributions.

He was recognized particularly for his efforts for better farm worker housing.

Blood donors welcome at bank branch

BELLE GLADE—Blood donors will be welcomed at the Bank of Pahokee Belle Glade

Branch on Saturday, June 19 from 9 to 12 p.m., when the Palm Beach Bloodmobile makes its stop.

The event is being sponsored by the American Federation of County and Municipal Employees.

Lock restrictions lifted

Conditions in Lake Okechobee and the Okeechobee Waterway have improved to a degree that all lock operating restrictions which have been in effect for several months were lifted as of 2 P.M. June 1.

All five locks along the waterway are now back on the normal schedule which is 6 A.M. to 10 P.M. daily. The locks will open upon proper signal during these hours for passage of vessels.
